Amiah's Progress

She is in great need of new leg braces for her and just found out last week that she was approved by our provider to get her braces! Praise God! Her right knee and leg are not doing too well. We are really hoping the braces help her.

What Ezra's up to

As you may have read already, I have been leading our Mission Builders this winter. I have also recently stepped off of the "Training Leadership Team" to hand that off to younger leaders to let them be released in their gifts. I am now getting back involved in property development and heading up different aspects of our next phase of our property expansion. I am still on our Eldership Team and leading in that capacity as well.

What's Rhonda up to

Rhonda is doing great. Staying on top of our dealing with our foster child and the way forward to adoption. She loves this and is great at keeping things in order and on track. She also did some traveling this winter for ministry and a wedding!

Hello from Florida once again. We had our returning fall teams come back from outreach and they were in several nations. The DTS ministered to 2,539 people resulting 17 salvation and 17 healings while handing out 135 Bibles! Exciting numbers and changed lives (for the students and people we ministered to).

The months of January through March were very busy for me as I lead our "Mission Builder" program. I lead 82 people over 7 weeks where people (mostly from Pennsylvania) use their vacation time to come to FL and serve at our YWAM base for a week to 10 days. They do different jobs I oversee from roofing to grounds maintenance to painting (and more), depending on the skill and talents of the team coming. Those 82 people served us with 3,280 hours of work! To put that in perspective that would take us 43 weeks (minimum) to produce that much labor with our small grounds and maintenance team. Its a huge blessing to have these teams come and serve us. And its an honor to lead that part of the ministry.

Rhonda went to NYC with a group of ladies for a Valentines Day outreach where they handed out roses, valentines and shared the Gospel as they prayed for people. It was a great time.

Then Rhonda was able to go out to LA for a week and get training on how to best reach this current generation (GenZ). It was very fruitful, she and the team came back with a lot of great insight, encouragement and strategy. We are excited to implement a lot of the learning here at YWAM Orlando.

Rhonda and Zuri and I were blessed by a lot of people to be able to go to Hawaii and participate in a very close friends wedding. I was able to officiate and Rhonda stood up. It was fun being there and seeing Kadesh for a short time as well.

As always we are so grateful for all of you and the time and energy and finances you pour into our ministry. The Kingdom is advancing and you are part of making that happen. God bless you all!

First snowman!

I got to officiate a wedding of a very close friend in Hawaii in April. We brought Zuri as the trip fell over her 18th and Kadesh came all the way from Africa to be with us! Its hasn't been only 4 of us since 2008!
